

In This Issue

On the Loom
The GREEN LINE
SILK MERINO FELT SCARF
What's next?

OFF THE LOOM

This past November I was able to take a wonderful workshop from Catherine Ellis on Woven Shibori. And - we used natural dyes for the dyeing part. I now have visions in my head about things to weave this year AND possibilities with the natural dyes. It's a lot of fun.

Quick Links...
Our Website

Dear Moya,

Another new year - another new slate.....hmmm, what do you want to look back on in December and say "YES - I DID do that!". For me, I want to spend more time weaving things maybe a little out of my comfort zone! How about you?

JAGGER SPUN - THE GREEN LINE

Here is a 100% Organic Wool yarn in a sport weight that is organically dyed in 36 shades. This is 100% organic merino wool, fine grade. It is very soft, reasonably priced, and available on 1# cones or 8 ounce skeins. It is wonderful to work with and is great for sweaters, shawls, or scarves.

Knitters: US # 4- #6

Weavers: Sett 10-12 epi

Click on the picture to see all the colors.

FELT SCARF KIT

Here is a really quick and fun kit to make a silk merino felted scarf. Even for those of us that are 'felting challenged' Scarf shown in mulberry. But there are 11 great colors to choose from..... and the kit is only $14! Click on the picture to see the color card.

FEEDBACK

Thank you to all who responded to our survey - we really appreciate your feedback. It helps us to know what you like. We welcome your suggestions on things you would like to see us carry - so please email barb@weaversloft.com with your wishes!

And watch for the announcement next month on our first new colorway for 2011!

Sincerely,

Barb Gallagher
Weavers Loft